Dear AAUW members -

October already has me on my knees begging for mercy, so I am resorting to a briefer email newsletter format. Foliage will return soon, I promise. - Kate H.

1. Book Sale shifts still open:

Sunday - any shift (this is the priority right now)

Saturday - 1 person for second shift (11:45 - 3) or 1-2 people for third shift (2:45 - 5)

Reply to this email, if you are available

2. Public Policy: "It's My Vote" - Debate night

Read about our local efforts to get women registered and out to vote in Mary Hayden's column "Learn/ Act/ Connect: Not Just Words" on our site. One of our initiatives is to host a Debate Watching party on Oct 16th at Mogie's on Water St.

3. Book Group - Date change

Book Group meets on November 13th next month (due to the election) at 7:30 to discuss American Dervish by Ayad Akhtar, a Book Festival author.

Talents, services, foods, creations, and experiences: if you have any to offer, they will be appreciated. Our annual lunch and silent auction is coming up on Saturday, Nov 10th. For the third year in a row, we will also hear from our NCWWSL scholarship recipients. More details are available on our website.
